Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Saturday 09 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain in the north, drier in the south and east.

Today:
Rain, with sleet and snow on the hills, pushing in from the northwest, slowly clearing southeastwards through the day but becoming lighter and patchier as it does so. Wintry showers over the Northern Isles into the afternoon.

Tonight:
Rain clearing the far south during the evening, largely clear behind but showers persisting over the Northern Isles. Clouding over from the west with rain, sleet and snow by dawn.

Sunday:
Rain, with sleet and snow on hills at first, pushing eastwards through the day, wettest in the west. Feeling milder than of late.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Cloudy and wet on Monday, particularly in the west, but staying mild. Largely dry on Tuesday and into Wednesday but rain, sleet and snow pushing up from the southwest later.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.